

The 25 best FREE romantic ideas that will make your partner love you more!

01-Write a love letter. Its so simple to take a piece of paper and write down how you feel about your partner. Tell him/her how you see your future with her/him and give them compliments to raise their self esteem. Do not! Write the love letter with a computer, it must be done by hand.

02-Go for a picknick. Get some food out of the kitchen or make some yourself, put it in to a basket with a blanket that´s big enough for the both of you. Now don´t forget the wine and glasses. Make sure that when you toast with your partner, you are prepared for something nice to say.

03-Write a cute note. On a day that you have to work early, and your partner is still in bed. Before leaving for work, write her/him a posted or a small note with a sweet of exciting message like, Honey i would have loved to stay in bed beside you, it´s a pleasure to wake up next to you.....

04-Change the setting. Change the setting in the living room or bedroom, by moving furniture, changing the accessories and finishing with candles. Put on some romantic music, and ask your partner to dance in the living or bedroom. It will start the fire for a great night.

05-Watch the sun go down together. A simple thing as watching the sun going down together with your partner can be very romantic. You don´t even have to speak, just holding each other or being in each other´s arms can make a couple feel closer together and more in love.

06- Look at the full moon together. You know what they say about a full moon right? That it can make people do craze and freaky things. How about letting the full moon do the work for you by watching it with your partner. I'm sure some exciting things are about to happen after.....

07-Sing your partner a love song. If you got a reasonable good voice, singing a famous love song for your partner spontaneously, can be very romantic. Or make your own love song. There is nothing better than you taking your time, putting words in to a song to show your love.

08-Have a serenade underneath the window. A famous and popular act in movies, can also work for you. Singing or bringing a poetry to the one you love, underneath her/his window can be so romantic, don't forget to throw a small stone to her/his window before you start.

09-Pick flowers for your partner out of a garden. Why buy flowers in a shop, if you can pick them yourself. If you don't have a garden, ask it to someone who does, or be a bad for once and take a few out of someone else's garden (with proper care off course) Success is guaranteed!

10-Make your partner a bath or luxurious shower. A hot bath with flower leafs can be enough to make your partner feel special. If you don't have a bath, a shower can do the same. Just make sure everything is nice and clean, and sponge your partner's body all over with soap.

11-Give your partner a massage. Nothing feels better than a good massage after a hard day off work. You can give a total body massage, a back of a simple head massage. Make sure your partner doesn't have to do anything and just feels relax and loved after the massage.

12-Take a walk on the beach together. Now this is one of the most popular romantic things to do together. Just a walk in the sand on the beach, looking at the water, can bring a sense of peace and love between the two of you. Take off your shoes to connect with mother earth.

13-Dancing in the street. Now if you got the guts to get the glory. If you got some moves and you are not afraid to groove? Spontaneously grab your partner on the street, no matter where it is, to have a dance with her or him. It can be a ballroom, slow dance, salsa dance or whatever you feel comfortable to do.

14-Make your own outdoor drive in movie theatre. If you have a car and a beamer or portable tv/dvd player, make your own theatre setting somewhere outside in a nice area. Make sure it's night and that you have got everything ready (from foods etc) when you arrive with your partner.

15-Make your partner a five star home diner. Cook your partner a special menu with several rounds. Make sure you set the dining table nice with flowers and candles. If you cannot cook yourself, you can order food and then present it on the table, as if you have made is yourself.

16-Make your partner a piece of art. If you're a handy or creative person, you can make your partner a nice piece of art. It can be a picture, painting, sculpture a piece of furniture. No matter what it is he or she will appreciate it.

17-Take your partner out for a walk. Just taking a walk around the block, in the park, sightseeing or house searching can be a romantic thing to do also. The main importance is that you enjoy each other company and enjoy whatever it is that you are seeing outside.

18-Look in each other's eyes. One of the most intimate en spiritual things to is to just look at each other eyes, without looking away. Staring in to your partners eyes, can be very intimate when you allow all the emotions to flow as you stare until you connect your hearts with mind, body and soul.

19-Take tantric workshop at home. Tanta can be used to strengthen your relationship on a spiritual and deeper level. It can also make your sex life more intense and fulfilling. There is much more free information, books, video's and audio to find on the internet search engines.

20-Make your partner a piece of jewellery. This is especially good for couples who already have everything when it comes o money. Instead of buying a expensive piece of jewellery, take your time to make something for your partner yourself, i'm sure he/she will be much more appreciative.

21-A complimentary love book. If you have an empty notebook or map, use it as a special book for the one you love. Start by writing or drawing something sweet on the first page. Then continue to do that on a weekly basis, so your partner can see the romantic messages all the time.

22-Treat her/him like a queen/king. For one day only, tell your partner that you will be their servant and they will be your king or queen. This means that you must do everything they say on that day and spoil them by giving them everything they want and much more.

23-Make love outside the house. Making love outside of the comfort zone of your own home, can be very exciting. Especially when a couple are together for a long time, they need the spontaneous actions and fresh unknown experiences to prevent the relationship from becoming a boredom.

24-Just kiss each other. A good kiss can give anyone such a great feeling. It can be a turn on as a foreplay for in the bedroom. It can be a sweet and enjoying thing to do. Or it can be a token of affection and love to each other. Whatever the reason is, just have fun enjoy it.

25-Ask your partner to marry. The ultimate romantic thing to do is to propose to your partner. Make sure that your well prepared in what you are about to say before you ask her. The more good things you say in your declaration of your proposal, the better chance you get to hear a YES!

We'll I hope you have enjoyed these 25 easy and free romantic things you could do with or for your partner.

NOW get off your but and start bringing the romance back in your life!

Please do let me know your opinion about this mini book, by sending me an email or leaving a message on my website: www.love250.com,

Warm regards and much love,

The Love Dr. Cindy B.

